Internal control toolkit for NPOs

Purpose of Toolkit

The objective of this toolkit is to assist NPO's in ensuring that their internal control systems are sound to prevent fraud and theft and to ensure that their business processes are effective and efficient. It comprises a checklist of internal controls for each of the typical business processes of an NPO, namely:

- Purchasing of and payment for goods and services
- Processing and payment of salaries and wages
- Receipt of donations
- Safeguarding of assets, including bank and cash

It is important to note that this version of the toolkit is targeted at those NPO's who have no or limited IT systems in operation.

An overview of internal controls

The purpose of internal controls is to:

- safeguard the assets of the NPO;
- Prevent and detect fraud and error;
- · ensure financial and operational information is accurate and reliable;
- ensure compliance with the law; and
- ensure that risks are effectively managed

The foundation of an effective internal control environment is an ethical and effective control culture at the NPO. Leadership of the NPO sets the tone at the top. If the NPO's leaders are unethical, have a disregard for governance, compliance and control and are not committed to transparency and accountability, it will filter through to the lower levels. Inevitably, a culture of poor discipline and impunity will develop in the NPO – a culture in which internal controls will not be effective.

A commitment to integrity and ethical values by leadership is demonstrated through:

• The tone at the top – Through their directives, actions and behaviour, leadership and management at all levels should demonstrate the importance of integrity and ethical values to support the functioning of the system of internal control.

• Established standards of conduct – The expectations of leadership and senior management concerning integrity and ethical values should be defined in the NPO's policies and code of conduct and understood at all levels of the organisation.

• Monitoring adherence to internal controls and code of conduct – Processes should be in place to evaluate the effective operation of internal controls and the performance of individuals against the expected standards of conduct and to timely remediate deviations

Internal controls can be categorised as preventative controls, detective controls and corrective controls. Preventative controls are the controls designed to prevent fraud and errors from occurring Detective and corrective controls focus more on identifying and correcting failures after they had already occurred.
